To 54 Countries Remember Wilson's Trips The Positron Arrives Europe's Plan for Us

President Roosevelt saks fifty-four countries to keep their armies at home, and preserve peace on which depend "happiness, presperity, the very lives of the men, wo-men and children who inhabit the whole world."

The President puts the airplane first among attacking weapons that "fixed fortifications" can no longer rusist, and expects all nations "wholly to eliminate from possession and use weapons which make possible successful attack."

Most important is the President's suggestion that "all the nations enter into a solemn, definite pact of non-aggression."

This message, in plain English. to mysterious "code," was seni broadcast to the nations of the world, including Soviet Russia.

And that, according to Senator Borah, is an official recognition of Russia. If so, it puts an end to a ridiculous situation, bad for busi-BALONEY

The President announces that he has "no present intention" of attending the conference. Perhaps he remembers what happened after President Wilson made such a trip. visiting en famille at Buckingham Palace, and getting his portrait substituted for Garibaldi's in many talian homes.

That Buckingham lodging and Saribaldi substitution cost this sountry many billions of dollars, to may nothing of the depression.

There was recently a conference ashington concerning billio that Europe owes us. Mussolini did not come; the President of France did not come; the King of England did not come. They sent somebody although they owe us, is there any particular reason why President Roosevelt should go? He has work to do here, and is employed by the people to do it here.

On the Mayflower, while Calvin Coolidge was President, somebody brought up George Harvey's suggestion that the United States should send delegates to London to discuss the debts. President Coolidge quietly remarked:

"They hired the money didn't they? Why can't they and it here?"

That New England gentleman would not have made and "record trip" to Europe on a cruiser, or anything else, while President.

Mrs. Leidig's Opening To be Next Saturday

Next Saturday, May 27, the curtains will roll back and the Leidig new open air market will be officially opened to the public. And a credit to Carmel it is, situated so that it catches the eye of the stranger when he first comes into the city.

Mrs. Leidig in speaking of her opening, was very enthusiastic. She said, "We are going to have five contests Saturday at which we will give away five baskets of food." She also plans these contests for each succeeding Saturday.

The new Leidig store will follow the same policy as in the past and will be open every night and Sunday, with shelf-masked goods. And even though a fair-minded person would not mind paying extra for this service, there is no additional charge and what sells for five cents Saturday sells for five cents Sunday.

Leidig's is the pioneer independent store, belonging to no chain nor system of any kind, and is entirely owned by Mrs. Leidig herself.

A new feature of the store will be the Leidig meat market, which will be in charge of Otto lly, formerly with Las Tiendas das in Monterey. Mrs. Leidig has adopted as her slogan, "Better ments at lower prices."

Carmel grows! Her summer visitors may have all 'the conveniences of the city, combined with the loveliness of nature.

LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

In spite of being forced to curail our book-buying propensities the collection offered to our readers this month is surprisingly generous and interesting. This is partly due to the County Library, which has sent us a number of new books recently. There is a marked decrease in fiction, however for it seems wiser to invest our limited funds in books of nore permanent value than the average novel. There was abundant evidence at the recent meet; ing of the California Library Association that other libraries were feeling this same necessity. Both large and small libraries have long used what they call Pay Collections for which they charged five or ten cents a week but for the most part these were composed of duplicates of the more popular books. Now, however, the small libraries are using this method of buying their fiction entirely. At the more general rate of 10e a week the average novel pays for itself in fifteen r twenty circulations. The book s then put on the free shelves and he money used to buy a new ook. Pacific Grove and Monterey have long followed this pracice. For the past few weeks we have offered a limited number of duplicates of the books most in demand, fiction for 5c a week, non-fiction for 10c. Many have been glad to get them, but we do not want to increase such parchases unless our patrons want them. The turnover of such books depends upon the good will of the borrowers. Therefore we

HAVE DONE GOOD WORK

Good work has been done this year by the junior traffic squad of Sunset school, and undoubtedly many accidents have beenavoided through their vigilance.

The boys work on a merit system, each one receiving a certain number of merita for his services. Duties of the squad include the care of the school flag, ringing the bell and escorting other children across the street.

Three meetings have been held so far this semester, and at each meeting the captain awards those having the highest number of merits two passes to the Carmel theatre.

The following is a list of the boys who have served on the squad the last season;

Bob Halls, John Castro, James Martin, Eugene LaRhier, John Sheridan, Jack Horner, Freeman Tilden, Thaddeus Holland, Roy Jimines, Hal Stone, Harold Johnson Louis Holtzhaur, George Neikirk, Bob Rand, Billy Frolli, Johnathan Hately, Boice Richardson, Markham Johnston, John Stone, Marx Phillips, Hagemeyer, Tommy Jimmy Rand, Paul Nye, Julian Walter Graham, Dick Tevis, Holm, Freer Gottfried, Teddy Marble, Maurice Foland, Jess Owen, Albert Wilcox, Homer Levinson, Tom Brown, Welsh, Clayton Askew, Arthur Parrott, Billy Jenkins, Pat Crichton Hugh Smith Jack Pelton, Bob Farley, Paul Warrington, Edward Ballam, George Winhart, Billy Wheeler, Neale Anderson, Lee Van Atta, with the following substitutes:

Adrian Harbolt, Martin Artilian George DeAmaral, John Plank, Meo Miyamoto, Earl Dawson, Fred McIndoe, Alan McConnell, Boys who received passes to the theatre were:

stops, and the procedure is usually the same in each case. After greetings, the visitor suggents that he has a pistol in his m used to be pretty good with it once." He is urged to try, and returns wih a gun which varies from a piece of Spanish artillery of the kind obtainable by mail for -9.98, to an honest American product of ancient vintage. The stranger exhibits his gun proudly, and steps up to the line. Here one can see the influence moving pictures have had on the American public, for nine times out of ten the stranger waves his gun around his head a la Tom Mix and Bill Hart. The gun bellows and every one scans the target eagerly but there is no hole in it.

With the tenth shot, the visitor surveys his target with a sinking heart, and finds about one hole far to one side. He departs a crushed and embittered man.

Usually this is the last we see of him, but once in a while he shows up the next Sunday with determination written on his face, and a new box of ammunition. He fires off the whole box, and departs from the range with an application for membership in his pocket. Two or three weeks later he shows up with an enviable weapon, and in six months we have a full-fledged gun bug, the world having lost what might have been a bridge fiend, golf nut or fishing enthusiast.

Galt Bell, well known Carmel director is now in Pasadena visiting Byron Folger who has also put on shows at the local theatre.

Mrs. Katherine de Pichon de staying for a few days with her twin sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Allen.

Mrs. G. W. Reamer entertained number of guests from San Francisco at her home on the Point last week-end. They were Misses Day, Siem, M. Sadman, Betty Alexander, Hazel Manning, Fogurty, Mrs. Hamond and Mr. Morena.

A number of prominent residents of San Jose visited Carmel recently to attend the recital of Marjorie Edwards, child violinist who played with the Monterey Peninsula orchestra at the Denny-Watrous gallery. From Agnew hospital came Dr. James A. Cutting, Dr. Margaret W. Cutting, Dr. Hyman Tucker and his mother, Mrs. Susan Horton, Mrs. Morton and Barbara and Arthur Cutting. Carmel Sun Emp ov

Henry Adamson, Carmel Sun's own expert printer, burst into the limelight Monday with the fol-Frenz to tr. for M. race Glenn, Ernest S. Bixler, Apr. 29, 10, lowing item in the Monterey Herald. Henry said he hardly got wet at all as he only went into the water up to his armpits, but one Ralph A. Coote and Emilie H. J. Henry Ohlhoff and Dorothy of the boys got caught under the sail and had to do a lot of splash> ing around to get out to air again: Through his reputation attained as being a good person to overturn a boat, Henry has secured a part with the company which will make a picture on Pt. Lobos next week.

Henry Adamson, Oak Grove sailing enthusiast, is the man to contact if you want to have a sloop "lay way over" as it runs before the wind. Henry proved this yesterday afternoon near the breakwater and with three companions chalked up an elegant ducking to prove it all.

Adamson, owner of the 16-foot Marconi rigged sloop "Corsair" wanted to get a picture of his craft skimming along with one rail awash and most of the keel exposed. He picked Bill Madison, 22-year-old Grove resident to do the sailing while he (Adamson) sat on shore and snapped pictures

But Madison, unfamiliar with the boat was unable to make it lay over satisfactorily and finally Adamson came aboard to give lessons. With the skipper and owner aboard the crew of the small craft was increased to four men, Fred Van Bogart, 20, Pacific Grove and Harry Damewood 19, Pacific Grove being the other members of the crew.

Adamson made two or three runs along shore demonstrating the business of "laying her down" and was doing an extremely good job of it until a gust of wind came along and slapped the "Corsair's sails flat on the water.

Fishing boats moored nearby were hastilly manned and came to the rescue. The crew of the "Corsair" was in no great danger since the accident happened very close to shore. Adamson's passengers regret however that no one was manning the camera wher the big moment came.

After bailing the boat out, the party resumed sailing-but there were no more efforts to make her

'lay down." Frank Newkirk, owner and skipper of the 19-foot sailing craft agle" habitual rescuer of sailors in distress, was cheated of another chance to be a hero. had been watching the "Corsair's" maneuvers from the deck of his own craft but was momentarily behind the old wharf when the accident happened and an unidentified fisherman hauled the somewhat moist crew of the sloop to safety.
